Tour: The Spencer family's primary objective for their land is production of high quality timber. Secondary objectives include wildlife management, with a strong emphasis on quail and white-tailed deer, enhancement of aesthetics and conservation of the soil and water resources. Timber production is focused on the best sites for growing pines. The three major timber producing pine species; slash, loblolly and longleaf pines; are represented here. Other areas are dedicated to wildlife enhancement, recreation and aesthetics. Invasive plants such as Japanese climbing fern and cogongrass are also being controlled. The family employs a variety of management techniques including prescribed fire, mechanical and chemical treatments. Join us for a tour. Some walking will be involved so wear appropriate clothing and footwear.

Register: Cost is $10 per person, lunch and materials included. Please register on-line at <https://fsp-tour051415.eventbrite.com/>. Those without Internet access can reserve a space by calling Santa Rosa County Extension at (850) 623-3868.
