

Brian Estevez

UF/IFAS Escambia County
Extension Agent III, 4-H Agent

bestevez@ufl.edu

850-475-5230

Langley Bell 4-H Center

3730 Stefani Road

Cantonment, FL 32533

Educational Program Focus:

Development of Organizational and Volunteer Systems to Support Youth Development

Collaborates with community partners, local youth development organizations, and other Extension professionals on the county, district, state, and multi-state levels. These collaborations provide youth opportunities, maintain an effective 4-H Foundation and Advisory Committee, and publicize and promote 4-H opportunities, activities, and events in the community to encourage greater support and participation.

Recruits, screens, and trains volunteers to lead community-based clubs and educational programs, maintain current 4-H clubs, and promote and encourage the formation of new clubs.

Youth Development

Develops, implements, and evaluates educational opportunities and programs for youth in Escambia County through a variety of delivery modes including community-based clubs, school-based clubs, military-based clubs, school enrichment programs, day and residential camps, judging teams, and educational workshops and events.

Specializes in: animal sciences, specifically meat science; and youth leadership development, specifically communication and teambuilding. Provides opportunities for youth and volunteer development locally and throughout the state in meat judging and outdoor cooking programming. Also provides opportunities for youth leadership development locally and throughout Florida in the areas of youth public speaking, 4-H councils, 4-H judging teams, and 4-H competitive events.

Work Experience:

UF/IFAS Suwannee County Extension 4-H Agent; 2008-2017

UF/IFAS Escambia County Extension 4-H Agent; 2017-Present

Education:

BS, University of Florida, Department of Animal Science
Specializing in Safety and Processing of Meat and Poultry

MS, University of Florida, Department of Agricultural Education and Communication
Specializing in Agricultural Leadership